

AJA SUMMIT ON HOUSING, CLASSIFICATION, & SPECIAL POPULATIONS

March 4 – 7, 2019

Dallas, Texas

Shaping the Future of Corrections Professionals

This four-day highly interactive program is designed to strengthen your classification staff's knowledge, critical thinking skills, and decision-making abilities. Proper classification leads to more effective population management. By better managing our population, we can lessen risk for both staff and inmates. In turn, liability is reduced. Group work and networking allow attendees to learn from the instructors and their colleagues in jails across the country. Bring your challenges, your questions, and your skills for a solution-oriented experience. This is not a basic session on objective jail classification.

Among the topics covered:

- Assessing risk and need
- Case law

Instructors

Major Amanda Lambert, CJM, is a 34-year veteran of the Prince William-Manassas Regional Adult Detention Center in Virginia. She is the Director of Support Services, a PREA coordinator, and is currently overseeing a 200-bed expansion. Major Lambert was instrumental in the implementation of an OJC system in her facility and teaches basic and advanced classification across the country.

Darren Sieger, CJM, is the Classification Manager for the Broward Sheriff's Office in Fort Lauderdale, Florida. He has held the position for more than 17 years with 23-plus years of experience in corrections. He is responsible for inmate classification for approximately 40,000 bookings annually with an average daily population of 3,600 inmates across four facilities. Mr. Sieger holds a master's degree in criminal justice and teaches classification throughout the country.

Class is limited to 40 participants.
