Leadership, Operations, and Action Planning

April 27–29, 2020 | North Charleston, SC

Hosted by: Al Cannon Detention Center

Join us as we examine the best jail practices collected from facilities across the country. From leadership to communication, from classification to risk management, spend time with other jail professionals as we discuss these key issues:

- Challenges in Leadership
- Risk Management
- How to Apply the Principles and Dynamics of Direct Supervision to Any Jail Design
- Classification: The Keys to Successful Inmate Behavior Management
- Generations: Can't We All Just Get Along?
- Back It Up: Evidence-Based Decision-Making
- Developing Partnerships with External Stakeholders
- How to Combat Staff Complacency
- An Overview: Building, Renovating, Transitioning
- Restrictive and Special Population Housing
- Proactive Solutions for Jail Operations

Who Should Attend? This seminar is for professionals at every rank and experience level, especially those who are seeking to advance or challenge themselves in the corrections field. Whether you've just been promoted, are seeking advancement, or simply ready for the next level, this training can assist you and your facility.
