

AJA Professional Development

RECRUIT ► TRAIN ► RETAIN

Use of Force in Jails

March 17-18, 2020 Albuquerque, New Mexico

Hosted by: Bernalillo County Metropolitan Detention Center

This two-day class is designed to assist the Jail Command Staff, Supervisors, and Tactical/SRT team leaders and members in the use of force. Instructors will discuss the latest legal developments in the use of force including a review of the Kingsley case with an emphasis on pre-trial detainees. Recent court cases from around the nation involving the use of force will be reviewed. Attendees of this class will receive instruction in how the public's perception of the use of force has changed over the years with an emphasis on report writing. The impact of video in corrections will also be a focal point as will the importance of the consistency of training throughout the entire agency in areas such as firearms, internal affairs and legal elements.

The growing concerns involving the use of force on offenders who have mental health issues and the importance of the integration of medical/mental health staff in this process will be covered. Examples of best practices for After Action Reviews of use of force as attendees will learn how to create and develop review units to aid departments with data collection and provide assistance to front line officers as well as supervisory staff.

Who Should Attend?

Superintendents, wardens, assistant superintendents, deputy wardens, command staff, shift commanders, SRT/tactical team members, directors of security, and legal staff.

Training Location

Bernalillo County Metropolitan Detention Center
100 Deputy Dean Miera Drive SW
Albuquerque, NM 87151

Program Cost

$345 for Members | $395 for Nonmembers
Program fee includes all training materials. Lodging and meals are the responsibility of the attendee.

Instructors:

Carrie Hill has dedicated her 29-year career to providing professional development seminars in correctional law, along with criminal justice consulting, to educate and empower those working in the correctional industry. Carrie currently serves as the Director of the National Center of Jail Operations for the National Sheriffs' Associations.

Joseph McNamara is a criminal justice training consultant with over 29 years of experience. He is a past president of the Southern California Jail Managers Association and a member/instructor of the International Law Enforcement Educators and Trainers Association. Joe is also a graduate of the National Jail Leadership Command Academy and has a bachelor's degree in criminal justice.

For more information, visit aja.org or contact Lori Bachtell at 301-790-3930, Ext. 303.