Corrections Workplace and Culture Committee

Chair - Fred W. Meyer, MA, CJM, CCHP
Staff Liaison - Chris Daniels, MPA, CAE

The duties for the Corrections Workplace and Culture Committee arise from the AJA Bylaws, Article VI, Section 6.01d. This committee will also include three other members in addition to the chair, one of whom must be a member of the AJA Board of Directors.

- Address workplace issues such as recruitment, selection, retention, leadership development, and succession planning.
- Identify agencies with proven strategies for hiring and retaining staff and share those practices through AJA platforms.
- Develop an article for American Jails magazine highlighting successful methods to strengthen the jail workplace.
- Coordinate with the Fall Summit and Training and Professional Development Committees to support relevant educational offerings.
- Collaborate with other committees on wellness, workplace resilience, and personnel development initiatives.
- Support peer support network efforts, staff stress management awareness, and nationwide wellness infrastructure.
- Monitor legislation affecting staff well-being and provide input to the Legislative Affairs Committee.
- Meet as needed virtually with committee members and other committee chairs.
